APA Offers New Professional Liability Insurance Benefit for Members

APA is partnering with the American Professional Agency, Inc., to bring you a new insurance benefit.

American Professional Agency, Inc. is the largest writer of mental health professional liability insurance in the United States, with over 100,000 health care professional policyholders. The agency provides high-quality professional liability offerings for applied psychologists as well.

As an APA member you are entitled to a minimum discount of 20%, every year, when you purchase a policy of any size through American Professional Agency. Some members may be able to save up to 35% on already competitive rates. Existing American Professional Agency policyholders will be able to obtain this APA member benefit on renewal of their policy with American Professional.

APA members who switch to the American Professional Program should not need to purchase tail coverage because the American Professional Agency offers prior acts coverage back to the retroactive date stated in the members' current professional liability policy.
